"Engaging Minds, Empowering Futures, Expecting Success"

Savanna School District Community,

Thank you for showing up. Thank you for caring. And thank you for casting your vote in yesterday's bond election. Although the proposal did not reach the required 60% to pass, your support was unmistakable. Of the 331 ballots cast, 181 community members voted YES — 54.68% — standing up to say that Savanna's children matter. To each of you who used your vote to prove it, thank you.

While we came up short of the 199 YES votes needed, we are not discouraged. The need for a safe, efficient, and future-ready elementary building remains urgent, and our commitment to meeting that need has not changed. We will continue working, planning, listening, and fighting for what is right for our students and our community. We will not give up. We will not be deterred. The cause is worth the effort, and our Bulldogs are worth every step we take.

To our parents, students, staff, and community members who stood with us — stay with us. We are not done fighting for the Bulldogs yet. We will keep moving forward with determination, transparency, and the same belief that brought us to this vote: Savanna's children deserve the best we can give them.

Our community is strong. Our students are resilient. And together, we will find a way.

Go Dawgs Go,

Adam Newman, Superintendent, Savanna Public Schools
